Millionaires

Data for millionaires in Canada is derived from income reports of taxfilers (taxfilers with income of $1,000,00 or more), with 2018 the most recent data available.

The number of Calgary millionaires increased from 1,720 in 2017 to 1,800 millionaires in 2018. In 2018, Calgary had the highest concentration of millionaires in Canada (persons reporting personal income of $1 Million+), on a per capita basis, at 121.3 per 100,000 population.

In 2018, Calgary millionaires reported a median income of $1,465,700, third highest among Canada's major Census Metropolitan Areas (CMAs).

This fact sheet provides analysis of earnings distribution across Canada. Topics include: millionaires, after-tax income, personal income per capita, wages and salaries and household disposable income per capita. Analysis for household income, financial security and calculated financial assets (CFA) are not included in this edition of the Calgary Wealth Fact Sheet. Household income data is released every five years from the Federal Census Program. The Survey of Financial Security is conducted periodically. Calculated financial assets (CFA) datasets are no longer produced by Statistics Canada. Please see the 2017 Edition of the Calgary Wealth Fact Sheet for analysis on these topics.
